Stakeholder Registration

NZFM is responsible for managing activities throughout the life-cycle of the plantation forests. Social effects can be generated at several stages of the forest life-cycle. NZFM have explicitly identified objectives and procedures within our Environmental Management System to cover any potential social impacts. These objectives and procedures also cover NZFM's contractual and regulatory requirements.

Social effects are identified at a "landscape" level during broad assessments carried out in the earliest stage of forest planning. Effects assessment also occurs during subsequent harvest and operations planning. NZFM is committed to undertaking operations within our estate in a socially responsible way and social impact monitoring plays an important role in achieving this goal. NZFM invite any interested parties to register as "company stakeholders" by completing the form below.
